GREAT TEY

NEWS, VIEWS AND EVENTS IN & AROUND GT TEY

EDITORIAL

My apologies if you noticed the error in dating last month's paper, a complete mistake in proof reading I must admit.

One more issue before Christmas, so if you have any relevant news or event planned that you wish to share with our readers during the run-up to Christmas, New Year or during the month of January, please send it to me at the address on the back page. I say it every year at this time, but please remember there will not be a January paper due to difficulties with the collection of articles and printing over the festive period, so our next publication will be the February 2023 issue.

There are already a series of events, fairs and raffles established in our village for next month and details of all these are set out on the following pages, so you have no excuse not to get in the festive spirit. Ed

NATIVITY AND CRISTINGLE

On Sun 4th December, in the afternoon, we hope to hold the annual Cristingle service with a little nativity play. We will need lots of children to take part in this. If your child would like to join in please email me on Sam harvey200@yahoo.co.uk and I can add them to a list.

All ages are welcome as they don't all need to speak! We will also need some older children to read the script if any are interested.

Once a cast has been formed we will hold an evening after school at the church and allocate parts.

Sam and Jodie Harvey.

Finally, after several years, Great Tey Primary are able to host their annual Christmas Fair again and would like to invite all local residents to join us.

The Fair will be held on Friday 25th November between 3.15pm and 4.45pm in the school hall. There will be fun and games for all and of course some wonderful cakes to enjoy! If you bring along this section of the Round and About you can claim a free drink!

A raffle will be held on the day. We already have some fabulous prizes and more are still rolling in. If you can not come along, but would like to support the school and buy some raffle tickets, please message 07535 813541.

All funds raised this year are going towards completely re-stocking the non fiction books in our library ensuring the children have up to date and age appropriate resources to not only support the topics they are learning about in school, but to also broaden their minds and answer the questions they didn't even realise they had yet!

The community has always been a great support to our wonderful village school and we hope that now we can host events again, this support will continue. We look forward to welcoming you to our Christmas Fair.

As Christmas is not too far away now and everyone is starting to think about present buying, then please just bear in mind that the Swimming Pool is listed with Smile.Amazon, so you could help towards funding the swimming pool without it costing you a penny. Just remember when you shop with Amazon, log into Smile.Amazon.co.uk (using your normal Amazon log in details) and select Great Tey Community Pool as your chosen charity. You will get the same range of goods and prices as on the normal site and 0.5% of money spent will go towards the Pool Fund. Thank You.

Although it will take place after this addition has been printed, we are hoping our Halloween Disco will have been a really spooky success and hopefully not too scary!!!

At the end of November, we will again be having a Santas Grotto in the Village Hall alongside the Table Top Sale on Sunday 27th November. The children can enter the Magic Grotto and meet the Old Gentleman with the long white beard and bright red coat, and they can then tell him their list of things they would like for Christmas. The price per child will be the same as last year £2.50 each with all the money, after expenses, going towards the Swimming Pool Fund.

The Committee were very grateful for the anonymous donation of £10.00, popped through The Old Vicarage letter box, and £60.00 received from the Sewing Club, both these contributions go towards the Fund, and show that the Village is doing its bit to help us reach our goal of our own community swimming pool.

Light up a Life this Christmas with St Helena Hospice

This Christmas you can make a real difference and help St Helena Hospice light up the lives of patients and families within the local community throughout the festive period and beyond.

St Helena Hospice is a ray of light for many individuals across north east Essex facing incurable illness and bereavement. For people nearing the end of life, Christmas is a time to make treasured memories with their loved ones and many wish to spend what may be their last Christmas in the comfort of their own homes.

Your support of the Hospice this festive season will allow patients to stay in their preferred place of care whether that is at home or in the Hospice, while also helping to fund St Helena's bereavement service and SinglePoint 24/7 advice line which continue to run throughout Christmas to provide total support and individual care to those who need it in the darkest of times.

There are a variety of ways you can help light up a life this festive season, such as taking part in the Christmas Tree-cycle – simply register your tree online and our dedicated hospice volunteers will collect your real Christmas tree outside your front door on Saturday 7th January 2023 and take it to be recycled on your behalf. You can also pop down to the Christmas Bazaar on Friday 25th November at our Stanway Brew, Books and Boutique store to pick up some wonderful festive bargains; or join in the festive spirit and hold a festive fundraiser at work, at home, at school or with a group – check out our fundraising elf-a-bet for inspiration!

We also invite you to join us in remembering and celebrating loved ones no longer with us by dedicating a lantern in their name to be displayed in either the Hospice garden in Colchester or at Beth Chatto Gardens. You can view your lantern on display at one of our remembrance services at either Beth Chatto on 11th December or at the Hospice on 15th December and reflect together at this poignant time of year on special memories shared with those no longer with us.

Why not also visit our online shop where you can buy a range of items including our brand new Timeless Winter candle which with a deliciously warm and festive scent of orange, cinnamon and clove is a perfect addition for your home, or makes a perfect gift; as well as stocking up on Christmas cards and more!

Wherever St Helena patients spend Christmas, your support enables our staff to provide light and hope not just during the festive season, but around the clock, 365 days a year.

Find out more about how you can light up a life at www.sthelena.org.uk/lightupalife22

GREAT TEY WI

WI does not have to be about all Jam and Jerusalem as we all found out last month when Pinky Patel (of Home-made Daal fame) gave us an interesting talk on Henna. Not only that, but we had a demonstration of the delicate art on three of our Ladies. So, if you fancy a tattoo but not quite brave enough to take the plunge, then have a Henna design to test reaction. It only lasts about two weeks, but it is fun whilst it lasts!

This month again we have something completely different, because Nicky Bolton is going to tell us all about her Covid Project - Her Doll's House.

Any one wanting a lift to the venue please contact Christine or Norma.

The meeting is on Tuesday 1st November 2022 at 7.30pm. The WI meets on the first Tuesday of the month and we are always looking for new ladies to join us, young and not so young. All are welcome.

The first half term this year has whizzed by, and our new class of reception children have already settled into school as though they have always been here! This term, we have of course been looking back at the life of Queen Elizabeth II and her achievements throughout her long reign. The children have researched her life and we were able to welcome parents in to school to watch an assembly celebrating her life and achievements just before her funeral. We have also enjoyed a Harvest Community Worship at the church this half term, and the children have enjoyed being back at church and meeting Rev'd Scott-Thompson.

This half term, Ducklings have been learning all about Me and My Community; Sparrows have been exploring Space through their topic, Moon Zoom; Robins have been learning all about The Stone Age and Woodpeckers have been investigating The Ancient Egyptians. We have our fingers crossed that this year will be a year without any lockdowns and without too much absence due to illness, so that they children can continue to keep learning and playing together. We are very much looking forward to some new outdoor equipment we have purchased thanks to fundraising by one of our governors, Mr. Wheeler. This includes woodland equipment, a new outdoor classroom and benches, a role-play boat, large construction equipment and a new willow dome. We hope the children will love using these and send our thanks to Mr. Wheeler for all his hard work.

The Friends of Great Tey have also been working hard to raise funds for us, through a fantastic Quiz Night held earlier this term and lots of other events held throughout the year, including our very popular camping weekend. They have kindly agreed to fund some more laptops and a new laptop trolley for Robins Class, so our thanks to all the Friends of Great Tey.

Finally, if you are able to spare some time and would be interested in supporting our growing school, we have two vacancies on our Governing Body for members of the local community. The Governors of the school meet twice a term in the evening to oversee the work of the school, and also visit the classrooms and speak to the children to see our work in progress. It is a hugely important role and one we value greatly – please contact either myself or the school office if you feel you might be able to offer your support. Email addresses are head@greattey.essex.sch.uk and admin@greattey.essex.sch.uk

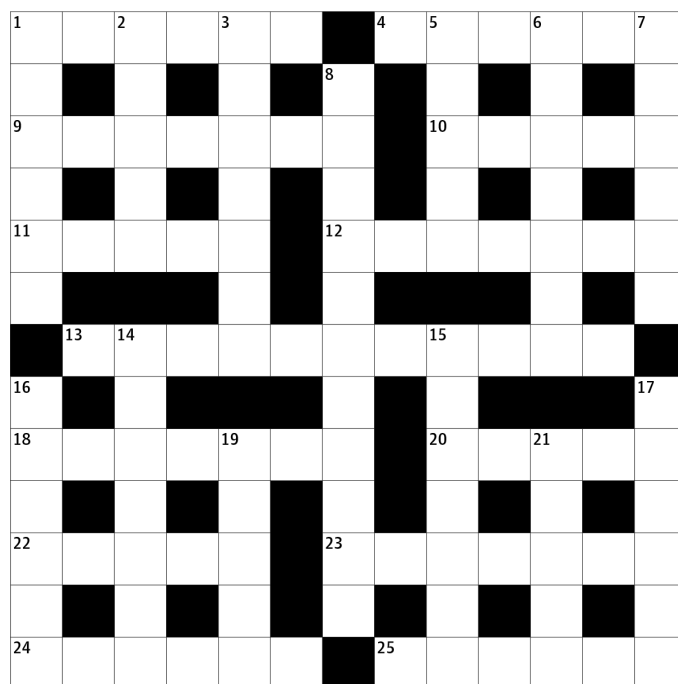

Best wishes,

Lucy Overton

GARDENING NOTES November 2022

Why do leaves turn such wonderful colours in autumn?

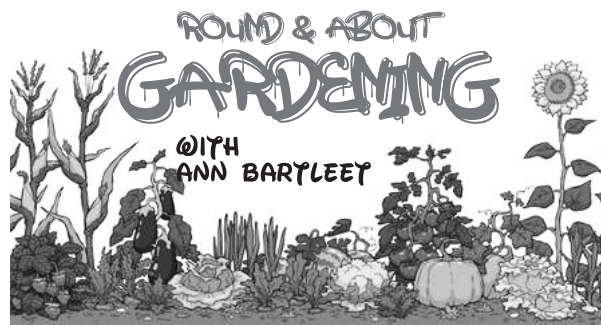

A maple tree which Anthony and I planted outside our gate 50+ years ago, is now fully mature and a blaze of yellows and oranges, as are lots of other trees this autumn, so I asked myself why? After talking to Frances Strickland who knows much more about these things than I do, I found the explanation that follows written by the head gardener at Wakefield Place, who knows a lot about the science, so here it is;

'Autumn colour is a fascinating phenomenon, where trees and shrubs that have been green all summer burst into flamboyant shades of yellow, orange and red.

Trees, like most plants, use a green pigment called chlorophyll to photosynthesise – that is to produce sugars from the energy of the sun, using water and nutrients from the soil. This is what gives trees the energy they need to live and grow.

In autumn, trees that lose their leaves for winter go through a process to shut down photosynthesis and reclaim as many valuable chemicals as possible. Chlorophyll is constantly breaking down and being replaced through summer, but this process slows down in autumn. This reveals all those other chemicals in the leaves that were hidden by the presence of the dominant green chlorophyll.

These include yellow flavonols, orange carotenoids and red to purple anthocyanins. The exact mixture of these compounds varies between species, and hence the degree of yellow or red colour in the leaves.

It is thought the red or purple anthocyanins either protect the leaf from cold temperatures or deter pests, such as aphids. The presence of these coloured compounds might allow the tree longer to reabsorb other valuable nutrients as temperatures drop in autumn, so they are left in the leaf to help that process.

As the tree becomes dormant, a compound called abscisic acid triggers a seal to develop at the base of the leaves, before they fall off. This reduces water reaching the leaf and traps the chemicals remaining in the leaves. They gradually break down, changing the colour of each leaf before it drops to the ground. As the process is gradual, individual leaves will be at different stages, so a tree will have leaves of many changing hues as autumn progresses.

The trigger for autumn colour to develop is a combination of day length and night temperature.

A warm dry 'Indian summer' followed by colder nights, allows more compounds to remain in the leaf and there is less time for them to slowly break down to brown before the leaves drop.'

Next month I will talk about some species that you might like to plant in your garden for maximum autumn colour.

PROPERTY COLUMN

Whilst writing this column two pieces of news had broken, firstly, the Bank of England base rate increased, secondly the Stamp Duty payment thresholds increased meaning buyers, particularly first time should benefit. Then... a raft of news followed about the likelihood of higher base rates leading to many mortgage providers revising their offerings. So, an uncertain time for our economic outlook with a knock-on effect to the UK housing market.

Uncertainty is a dampener to any market. Whatever our path economically is going to be as it becomes clearer that is what will hopefully start to stabilize things including the property market.

So, what if your selling property now. Well, my view is that back to basics has become even more important and are a constant in any market, so what do I mean by that?

Put simply, a property is worth what the market is saying available buyers are willing to pay. So careful evaluation, comparison and research are key to fix the sales price at the right level. Remembering if this price has dropped below previous expectations, if you are buying your purchase should reflect the downturn too.

Once again, I will say that there is no crystal ball with the UK property market which has repeatedly outperformed negative predictions. However, broadly speaking a slowdown in price growth is predicted exactly when or how much is the question.

I mentioned that the market is cyclical, some of us can remember when mortgage rates were much, much higher than they are now and the market at that time responded with a slowdown. You could argue, as some analysts are that it is different this time, but we will see.

If you have any questions/concerns in the current market, please let me know.

Please remember my views here are just and only that, always do your own research to make your own best and most informed decisions about property.

This year we may be starting the Service at the Lych Gate as it was built as a memorial to those who gave their lives in war. Please check the website nearer the time or look for a post on Facebook to discover where we will start the service.

Harvest Supper

We all had a very good time, delicious food, lots of chat and the barn looked very festive. Jane Pearson kept us entertained with a story of dog bites(!) and subsequent court cases at Marks Hall in the days when the Honywood family were still in residence. We were very lucky to have Kate Wenham on the piano and her young flautist niece playing for us during supper.

Our grateful thanks to everyone who helped to make the evening a great success.

Harvest Festival

Harvest Festival happens at a beautiful time of year. This year was no exception. Spectacular colours in all the hedgerows, carpets of acorns and crab apples and a reasonable wheat harvest to boot.

The festival was invented by the Rev Hawker, a vicar of Morwenstow in North Cornwall.

By all accounts he was a bit of an eccentric. He used to look out for seamen washed ashore after being shipwrecked and then made sure they got a Christian burial. He built a small hut on the cliff where he wrote poetry and letters. In those days most clergymen wore sober black clothes, but not he! It was said that the only black things he wore were his socks! He built a vicarage with chimney pots modelled on the church towers of his previous parishes.

Most importantly, in the 1840's he invented a service of thanksgiving for a good harvest.

Here in Great Tey, we sang familiar harvest hymns and enjoyed the fruit, vegetables and the flowers that decorated the church. Most importantly we remembered that our lives depend on the natural world and how much we owe to those who, in farming the land, deliver the extraordinary range of foods that we enjoy. We gave thanks for our bountiful earth and went away reminded that we all needed to do our bit to look after the planet better.

Future Events and dates

Nativity and Christingle
